CONCERNING THE ROLF TELANO COMMUNICATIONS

A Corrective Memorandum, by Rolf Telano and the Communicators.

(Some of the most remarkable and instructive material we have ever received concerning the aeroforms and the entities using them, has come via our Associate Rolf Telano. R.T. is a qualified technician or engineer in radio-electronics, and has never employed his psychic gifts for profit or in a public manner. In October, 1952, he sent us material from which we compiled an 11-page brochure (Release "1-B-52") which had a third printing in January, 1954. The prefatory page to this states that the principal thesis was that "the disc - shaped craft are operated by excarnate humans now living on the Etheric Venus (not on the astral)".

The trance control Yada Di Shi'Ite advised us that the brochure could be released "but with the utmost circumspection". He added that the subject was so complex that any information received by us would be inadequate, though not necessarily wrong. Later, in August, 1952, he stated that "none of the Discs were operated by excarnate humans". He did not impugn the veracity of Rolf Telano but felt that there was a misunderstanding somewhere. This acute insight on the part of the Yada has now been substantiated by the R. T. Communicators themselves, as the following document bears witness. The whole episode is instructive and profitable, and we are greatly indebted to the etheric communicators, to the Inner Circle of the M. P. Controls, and to our Associate Rolf Telano, whose singular gifts and painstaking accuracy have made this information available. *

* Note: Release (brochure) "1-B-52" is still available at BSR Headquarters. It contains six pages from the etheric communicators, comments by the Yada, a letter from Rolf Telano, a "further note on humans in Etheria", a letter from "Borealis Telano", and a short commentary by the M.P. Control Lo Sun Yat. (12 pages, 8½ x 11-$1.00).

EXCERPTS FROM LETTER - ASSOC. ROLF TELANO to the B.S.R. DIRECTOR:

"..... Regarding the "excarnate humans" -- it would now appear that they did not describe themselves as such, but, rather, that I so described them -- and that the description is in error. This was partially due to misunderstanding on my part, and partially due to my incorrect use of certain words in my article. The corrected version is as follows:

They didnot originate on Earth, or on any planet with a similar vibrational level. They have always been high plane dwellers. They have never used the word "etheria" in any communication, although I assumed (and still assume) that the place they describe is what you term "etheria". Their own name for their dwelling place has always been "heavi'n".

"Heavi", like our "heavy", means "dense". "'N" is the abbreviation of a source concept. The free translation into English would be: "A place of great density, from which we originated." Since great density would also be high vibrational frequency, it would seem to me that this would be "Etheria", or something very close to it. It seems that the same places and planes have several different names in some cases.

They came to Earth before there were any native Earthlings on it. In fact, they came for the purpose of bringing life, including human, to Earth, and guiding it until it was able to shift for itself. To do this, they had to bring themselves to the Earth-plane level. I regarded this as "incarnating", but they have since corrected me, and said that it was not an "incarnation" as the word is used here, since they did not enter Earth-born bodies. Their bodies were the same high-plane bodies which they had always had, only converted down to this level for the time being, much as is done with the Aeroforms at present. The "time being", as I understand it, was several thousand years, which is a "long time" to us, but only a brief interlude in their time-concept.

There were a few cases where some of their number actually left their high-plane bodies for a time, and entered Earth-born bodies. These were the "surface observers", who lived among the Earthlings. It seems that it is more difficult for an isolated individual to maintain himself on this level than it is for a group. He must constantly exert mental power to keep "tuned in", which diverts considerable mental power away from other uses. In these cases it was formerly the custom to actually incarnate these few.

However, they point out that this did not make him an "Earthling". The material body is not the individual, and the real entity who was temporarily wearing the body would still be a high-plane dweller, and would return to a high-plane body upon his return.

As I said, this was occasionally done formerly. In comparatively recent times ("recent" again in their time concept) they have con - structed a mechanism at their Lunar base which transmits a simulated mental ray, which they call the "master pulse wave". This is the proper frequency to convert them to this level or plane. All the Aeroforms, and surface observers, have a simple mechanism which will enable them to "lock in to synchronism" with the master pulse. This will automatically keep them at this vibrational level without any further thought on their part. They can, at any desired time, cut out the mechanism, and assume mental control over their vibrational level.

My contacts corrected me on this point some time ago but, since it required a rather lengthy explanation, and I was rather busy, I did not pass it along. As a matter of fact, I regarded it as a very minor point. Recently, however, I have received some correspondence from people who seem to feel that this is a basic difference, and that it impugns the B.S.R.A. Etherian hypothesis - so I haste to pass it along. As I see it, the corrected explanation is quite compatible, and would tend to confirm the Etherian hypothesis, rather than attack it.

To sum up, they regard themselves as "humans", but apparently in a much broader sense than it is ordinarily used, because they were never Earthians, but have always been high-plane dwellers. To them, a "human" is a being on any plane who employs a thinking and reasoning process similar to our own.

They have also pointed out to me recently that their appearance, in most cases, is not a "materialization" and "dematerialization", in their definition of the words. They regard "materialization" as creating matter from pure energy. Teleportation does actually employ a "dematerialization-materialization" process -- but they regard your term of "emergence" as more correctly describing the process in ordinary cases. That is, they are "there" all the time -- they are quite "solid" all the time (to themselves). They described it with a quite simple analogy, which might be of some use to you in describing it to others:

If you travel from New York to Washington, your reality has ceased to "exist", so far as the New York range of perception is concerned. Yet, you are the same "you" as you have always been, and you are quite "real" to yourself, and to anyone else on the Washington range of perception. It is exactly the same with the Aeroforms, except that, instead of travelling on the horizontal surface, they are travelling up and down the vibrational scale.

Since they have a much wider range of perception than we, it is possible for them to raise their level just slightly above the upper limit of our range, but still stay within their range. Thus they can observe without being observed, if desired. The Aeroforms over Washington, which went out of visual sight, but remained within "sight" of the radar, was an example of this. The radar has a much higher range than our eyes. I would assume that these relatively slow mutations which some have observed might be some Aeroform occupant sort of "fishing around" for this marginal level.

THE WINDSHIELD-PITTING PHENOMENON

(This curious effect, long known in England and now widespread here, has remained a mystery.. On April 17, 1954, the Mark Probert Control Ramond Natalli, an astronomer, was questioned about this).

RAMON NATALLI, CONTROL: 17 April, 1954

M.L.: Before you go, Natalli, I would like to return to trivia about mesons and their effect on glass. Is that all right? Can you speak of that? As I understand it the fractures are due to meson impact and I just don't understand why they occur almost entirely on the wind - screens, or the front of cars and not on the side windows, not on windows in houses, not on eye glasses and other glass construction.

Natalli: It will take place in the course of time.

R.G.M.: In the near future?

Natalli: Yes.

ML: How can there be anything so selective as that? If they are meson rays I should imagine they would come from all directions.

Natalli: It is not meson rays that are doing them by impact. It is by causing chemical changes to take place in certain times in the atmosphere, affecting the chemistry of the atmosphere that produces substance that causes the breakdown of the particles that hold the glass together.

ML: Why only on some glass and not on others, and in certain positions and not in others?

Natalli: This, at the moment, I cannot say.

F.O.: It is said they seem like little pieces of soot, like what we call coal soot, or whatever you want to call it, that drops on the windshields.

Natalli: This forms a chemical substance that when touching this glass causes several intense units of heat to be let go, penetrating the glass and instead of dissolving it, powdering it.

ML: Do you identify the mesons with cosmic rays?

Natalli: Yes. Now, my friends, this is part of the action of chemical changes taking place in your atmosphere due to cosmic radiation and hydrogen radiation and other atomic particles mingling in the atmos - phere.

RGM: Do you differentiate between hydrogen radiation as you just mentioned it and mesons?

Natalli: No.

RGM: Hydrogen is the origin of it?

Natalli: Yes, but it is all in the cosmic radiation, you have the forces coming directly to the earth at great speeds and penetrating through to the earth and letting loose this substance, hydrogen, into the atmosphere. You do not have it moving in that direction but is scattering in the atmosphere in a more condensed form. Am I understood?

RGM: I'm not sure I understand it completely.

ML : This graphite-like substance that has been found on the glass is sometimes magnetic and sometimes not.

Natalli: This is to be expected for it is metallic substance and charged with a positive force. This reason for some of them being and others not it is only because this positive charge is of a very short duration and is lost.

RGM: That sounds reasonable.

ML: Is there a powerful heat effect when the glass punctures?

Natalli: Yes, but it is not heat as in the way -- let me put it perhaps this way. What is the temperature to break down carbon artificially?

RGM: You mean to burn it?

Natalli: Yes.

RGM: Several thousand degrees.

Natalli: Yet the body burns it at 98.6°, huh? How is this? It is because it burns it at very minute quantities. It is letting loose energy in minute quantities but having intense force within. If these particles land on you, your body, they will cause for a moment some sensation.

ML: Is any harm done to humans at all by this phenomenon, so far?

Natalli: No.

ML: Is there any danger?

Natalli: No, because the charge is of too short a duration.

F.O.: Mr. Layne, you made a statement there in the kitchen of someone who had made a prediction a while ago that we would have quite a few, what was that again, phenomena taking place.

Natalli: Criswell.

ML: He predicts, and even dated some seven catastrophes of considerable magnitude in the coming twelve months, also one near at hand of great magnitude.

Natalli: If you do not mind, I will go. My friends, again I suggest you live today, you live now. You have a song written. This song goes, "There Is No Tomorrow." You remember it?

I.P.: There is no tomorrow, there is just today.

Natalli: Live today. I don't mean to resort to debauchery, I mean simply live and enjoy while you may.

ML: I hope I didn't give the idea that we were primarily interested in Mr. Criswell. That's incidental.

Natalli: Yes. I bid you 'Good Afternoon'.

- end -

In this connection I wish to call attention to a remarkable article (now being mimeographed) by our BSR Associate Edward S. Schultz, dealing with this same subject of the glass 'pitting'. His technical discussion falls into two main divisions: (I) Radioactive by-products in the Air (II) Flying Saucer Radiations or By-Products.

The first of these postulates "a chemical, radio-chemical, nuclear or subnuclear reaction on the glass from radio-active by-products, fall-outs, etc." with the possible origin of these in several different sources.

Part II of Mr. Schultz's paper adds to Part I the possibility that substances or radiations in the air might originate from the Aeroforms. It is also entirely possible that the presence of these radiations is a first move toward intervention in our planetary affairs by the Etherian visitors. An experiment in disintegrating the silicon in glass could easily be the first step toward the creation of "metal diseases" which might extend to iron, nickel, aluminum etc. - in itself sufficient to destroy our whole industrial and social set-up.

This whole essay by Assoc. Schultz is so close-packs with unusual information and suggestive data that any attempt at synopsis does it serious injustice - and in many ways it harmonizes with Natalli's comments on the meson effects. Pending its appearance in printed form we hope to offer it as a mimeographed brochure - or perhaps in our periodical Round Robin - more definite announcement later.

M.L.

A WORTHWHILE PROJECT: (letter received).

. . . Round Robin once ran a page on the MYSTERY SPOTS near Gold Hill, Oregon, and Santa Cruz, Calif. . . Established scientific authorities in California appear to give almost no consideration to these phenomena, and many of us wonder why. The proprietors of both the Oregon vortex and the one at Santa Cruz state that such localities are known to exist in several places within the United States. To supplement intensive studies that are perhaps being made of these individual localities, I should like to pinpoint all such localities now known on an outline map of the U.S. From such a map one might then look for similarities of climatic, geographic, geologic or other conditions that would enable some kind of pattern to appear. Do you know if such a study has perhaps already been made?

If any other BSR Associates are interested, a friend who has considerable training in mathematics and physics will be glad to help me organize and mimeograph for distribution the results of whatever information may be sent to us. Should your space permit, perhaps you can run such a statement as the foregoing in either Round Robin or some BSR bulletin...

Charles M. Dorr - Box 650, Berkeley, Calif.

Our friend Ben Told has informed us, there are a number of vortexes in the Ojai Valley - others in Canada - others in Mexico and other countries - also that various scientists as well as innumerable eager beavers with no science at all, have probed, prodded and investigated this strange condition of mother Earth - all arriving at the same conclusion, viz., that no conclusion can be arrived at. The gravity distortions, visual effects etc. are genuine, but What? How? Why? maybe Who? Ben Told has nothing to say on these last questions. But on behalf of all the people who write to us about these vortexes (i.e., on our own behalf) we hope several thousand readers begin sending information to Assoc. Dorr, and that the map he suggests will be made and distributed, and that somebody will send him $$$ for it (though he asks for none). This really is an interesting and useful project,

TRUE MAGAZINE for May, '54, has a long article, about a third of the issue, entitled "What Our Air Force Found Out About Flying Saucers". This elaborate, meticulous and long-winded report will be very useful in stalling off earnest inquirers who have just heard about Saucers and want everything summed up for them. It may also, in time, become a kind of classic of the Age of Futility, showing what kind of thinking our experts are incapable of, once outside of their textbooks. The whole performance winds up with the following profundity: IF the 'saucers' exist, they probably are interplanetary - or, IF they exist at all, they almost certainly come from other planets. It was about five years ago that one of the TRUE editors announced with grim determination, "we're going to get to the bottom of this saucer business." He got around the first corner on that project - but after that, the Quicksand! We think he might have picked up a few useful ideas from the BSR and could now have been seeing them verified - the news story of all time, and after that a padded cell - but padded sell describes most of the periodicals, anyway.

MEMO. TO ASSOCIATES:

The deletion made in black crayon, page 4 of CQC-B-9 (summary from Bul. No.2 of the Lodge of Light) has occasioned a number of inquiries and some annoyance. It annoys the CQC Editor, too. The extraordinary situation at the Calif. Air Base cannot, of course, be kept secret indefinitely. Stories about it, most of them badly distorted, are already wide-spread. Nevertheless, as long as the authorities continueto give only evasions or flat denials, BSR publications will print only quotations, reports, and rumours and will describe them as such. I think all our Associates will understand my own opinion about these reports - and that we are NOT wasting your time and ours on gossip.

I said above that this situation cannot be covered up indefinitely - but we must not forget what a wonderfully fine cover-up has been going on for eight years or more, concerning this same subject matter - the visitation of the "saucers", or Discs, and the Etherian people. That was possible mainly because people wanted it that way - did NOT want to hear anything disturbing and mysterious. A good deal of this attitude still persists, and the authorities are still in a difficult dilemma. So, some means of filtering the news and getting the burrs out of it may still be devised. People who 'simply can't wait' for great events may have to be impatient a little longer.

Deletions such as referred to in para. 1 above, are usually such as have been strongly recommended by our local advisors, as well as by Regional Directors when time permitted. Their advice has also led to a delay in offering all our Associates a mimeo. transcript from tape recording, Mark Probert Controls Natalli and the Yada di Shi'i'te received April 15. I should add, that the Controls themselves advised against any immediate release of this material, since it might possibly be misconstrued by the authorities. Well, the transcript referred to is not particularly sensational, and we are not releasing it to the public - i.e., it is not a newsprint and cannot be purchased like a magazine or newspaper. Still, for the present we are going to send it only on request. This reminds me, that this transcript is about 12 pages long and the work and expense involved are not inconsiderable, so if you feel like putting a $ or so into an ep (meaning envelope) it will be appreciated.

We also have the 16-page Transcript, No. 26 - latest of the series offered under separate subscription, 10 issues for $5.00. Subscribers to the Transcripts have received this but we have a few copies left. It covers a meeting held in February 1954 and deals in large part with the same general subject matter as does the April 15 transcript mentioned in the preceding paragraph. Non-subscribers to these Transcripts can obtain any single copy for $1.00.

If you write us about either of these, please be sure to specify which transcript you refer to: the one of April 15, '54 - or the "regular" one of February '54.

On the evening of May 10 the Mutual commentator Frank Edwards said in substance: 'If you're wondering about the disappearance of the Saucers from the news, the answer is that there is a clamp-down on printed reports. The Saucers are as numerous as ever. Also they are now reported from Peru. On tomorrow's broadcast I shall refer to sightings in the United States - some of them very recent....' This commentator has made frequent references to the UFO for years past - and NOW REQUESTS CLIPPINGS and particularly PERSONAL REPORTS OF SIGHTINGS, recent ones preferred. Here's hoping he gets 10,000 of them - and that BSR Associates will do their bit - which can be very considerable. It might help, too, to send F.E. a few lines of thanks and encouragement. He doesn't need pen-pals but may appreciate interest and support.

Items from the Little Listening Post: C.L.J.,Ed.

Latest Yankee Magazine (Dublin, N.H.). Vicinity of Mt. Monadnock, N.H. April 4, '54. Mr. J. Sinelk saw Saucer and took several pictures. The 'saucer-man' dropped writing to him, similar to that given Adamski. Pictures showed hat-shape and 3-ball landing gear. Yankee magazine prints the pictures.

May 1, '54. Washn. Post, Dorothy Kilgallan column. Good account of sighting at Flatbush, N.Y. Visible ½ hr., in and out of clouds. Witnesses. Sighter had no luck in reporting it; each group passed him on. Finally the A.F. said they knew of no meteors. Columnist has her say.

A neighbor who had received a piece of quartz from Colorado recently, quartz having 'burnt' holes in it, wrote for more samples. Reply to the effect that they were told to 'keep very quiet about it' - a Govt. Bureau mentioned but told to say nothing. Afraid to send more samples but vouched for fact of extensive damage to very many cars.

(By Listening Post Editor): The new account of scientist Dan Frey and his saucer ride to N.Y. sheds light on the dual nature of saucer phenomena. His experience seemed to partake of both 3rd and 4th dimensions at the same time; it was perfectly objective yet the voice he heard seemed to come from inside his head. The saucer was under remote control.

This matches up with the episode recounted in last and final CSI Bul, where a stock-raising scientist has a saucer come and hover near him in field at night; it was three- dimensional, yet had such a psychic or 'spiritual' effect on him that it changed his whole personality, from a cocky somebody to a humble and more spiritual man. All such things can be clues to our understanding. '

(Little Listening Post can be addressed at 4811 Illinois Ave.,N.W. Washn.11,D.C.)

GLASS POX IN LA. (Shreveport): rear window of auto pocked, cracked, and crystallized (Monroe): rear window cracks out while under observation. Reference to "flying" pieces of glass. (From Gardiner, Maine): small holes or pockmarks on "virtually all the store windows on Main Street ... in new plate glass windows ... tiny bubbles appeared while under observation, some went all the way through and left holes big enough for a match stick. (Cleveland, Ohio): Two hundred pockmarked windshields have been reported here to add to thousands previously reported throughout the country". (Atlanta, Ga.): Mr. CBS rolled down all the car windows as a precaution, but returned "to find the rear window shattered and a mass of cloudy fragments". (Nashville, Tenn.): all cars facing east in several used car lots looked like mechanical small-pox victims. Cars facing west were unharmed. . .

As BSR Associates all know, similar phenomena have been annoying English authorities and public for several years; they apparently got over the B-B gun stage of explanations after a few months, but haven't gotten any further. Here, as was to be expected, the silly season has opened again. Note, for example, the profundities of Business Week magazine: "The pockmarks simply come from normal, continued use of a car ... if people would go back to looking through their windshields instead of at them, the whole thing would be quickly forgotten ... the culprit objects come from streets and highways" ... There's more than a column of this blah-blah, tinged however with a little uneasiness.

For the FIRST sane, informed, highly intelligent discussion of the glass-pox phenomena, we recommend a six-page article , THE GROWNING WINDSHIELD DAMAGE PHENOMENA, by Assoc. Edw. S. Schultz, in the next issue of Round Robin - issue X-1, May-June, in mails by end of this month. Meanwhile we print on the next page a statement which is in basic agreement with Assoc. Schultz but is by no means repetitive of his excellent article.

Dr.Bellamy on Radioactivity: Dr. Albert W. Bellamy, Professor of Biophysics at the Univ. of Calif. and described as "a leading California scientist", is quoted in the Los Angeles Times of May 9 as saying in effect:

'A low but increasing level of radioactivity may pose a threat to the health of millions. During the past ten years man has deliberately increased the amount of high-energy radiation in the world, and concurrent with this has been the increase in the number of persons potentially exposed. We have not lived long enough with radiation to know how much long-continued low-level radiation - both internal and external - we can live with without injury. Radiation exposure is extremely insidious; the senses cannot detect it, and the effects may not show up for weeks, months or years.'

Dr. Bellamy's assistant, Dr. John M. Heslep, pointed out that Dr. Gordon Fitzegerald, university X-ray expert, recently said that careless use of X-rays had lowered the life expectancy of dentists to 56 years - about 10 less than normal. Heslep went on to point out that there is a higher incidence of leukemia among radiologists also. "Experiments with lower animals have shown that radiation has significant genetic effects, increasing the number of freaks" he said; but added that nothing is known about (genetic) effects on humans. "There is no need for concern about sterility. . . Radioactivity 'has been detected in California, in sewage, streams, air and soil. From these sources it could be absorbed by animals and plants and turn up in food. . . The hazard from internal radioactivity is much more severe than from external sources. The increased radiation is coming from the mounting use of man-made radioactive materials in industry, laboratories, hospitals, and from the testing of atomic weapons...'

Ramond Natalli: The foregoing leads us to quote an interesting comment from the M.P. Control, Natalli, during a recent meeting:

"Your scientific minds have delved deeper and deeper into the building blocks of matter, but few have publicly mentioned that within the atom are forces unknown to the majority of scientists, which if unleashed would turn your whole solar system into a nova. . . Within the nucleus of an atom are forces up into the hundreds of thousands of millions of pounds of pressure per square inch"

(Electronics engineer RGM pointed out that this is 10^{11}, (100,000,000,000).ml)

"These have not been touched yet. The atomic bomb uses only one-tenth of one percent of the forces resident within the atom. . . I am certain that you know nothing about the inner parts of the nucleus . . . even the great Einstein will have to change some of his ideas with respect to relativity in the course of time... It is in these deep layers of energy that these great (Etherian) beings have their existence . . ."

(We hope to be able to release, at a later date, the whole of the transcript containing the above remarks. ml)

Our new publication, THE COMING OF THE GUARDIANS is now available. Contents include: Foreword, on the 4-D (etheric) explanation of the Aeroforms, and biographical notes on the Mark P. Controls -- Communications of the Inner Circle concerning the Aeroforms, since 1946 -- Communications received through Rolf Telano -- Chart of the Etheric Zones of Terra, from Dr. Gerald Light -- Notes on the Mark Probert Mediumship. About 60 pages, mimeo., neatly bound. $2.00. -- We have also 50 copies (only) in a special plastic binding, at $ 2.50 each. This is a scientific, philosophical, and factual treatment of the subject, by highly informed minds on the "other side", and entirely different from any other book so far offered the public. Limited edition - we recommend that you order promptly and avoid waiting for a possible reprint. (ml)

Q-ENERGY FILM: We are informed by ORIGINALITY HOUSE that the Q-ENERGY BOOKLET has now been translated into Italian, under direction of the Baroness Evermont de Scarpis who conducts a radio program, and who intends to have it translated into French 'and other European languages' as it becomes known. Both the Baroness and her brother have made personal use of the film, with excellent results, and are publicising it as a public service.

This Q-Energy film is a very remarkable product. It is a two-way stretched thin plastic, is perfectly safe, and can be used by anyone. "The key lies in unbalanced, pulsating positive-negative energies, which can be in the form of currents, magnetic, or static fields. The static field is the one produced by the Q-Energy film. Its applications include operational shock reduction, increased healing rate, burn relief, pain relief, bleeding effects, sleep effect, gland stimulation etc., and many dentists, physicians, chiropodists, naturopaths, and veterinarians make extensive use of it. Many practical and therapeutic home uses. Cost of the film is very moderate. It is put up by Originality House, in some half-dozen different forms.

The descriptive pamphlet and price list may be obtained from BSR Hdqrs. at $1.00. Orders for the film itself should be sent to Originality House, 480 Avalon Ave. Akron 20, Ohio. Since Q-Energy film is NOT manufactured as a commercial enterprise and is sold almost at cost, please do not expect the producers to give lengthy advice, diagnosis etc. of physical conditions.

New Research organization: A London Associate, Mr. E. Biddle, writes: 'Here is the news I was asked to pass on to you. M. Andre Saux and M. Jimmy Guieu propose to found at Marseille a private organization to be known as "L'Institut de Recherche des Frontieres de la Science". It will greatly resemble BSR in its aims, and 'saucers' will be a kind of side-line, the main interest being supernormal and psychic phenomena, and indeed anything out of the ordinary. He says they will send all their material to the BSRA and similar organizations. J.G. is an enthusiastic reader of Round Robin. . ."

(M. Saux is editor of the Journal Maritime. M. Guieu is author of a forth - coming book on the aeroforms, and Chief Investigator for Ouranos of UFO reports in France).

Radionic treatment for animals: Mr. Bruce Copen, writer and research expert in radiesthesia, writes BSR as follows: "For your notice, and I hope you can bring it to the attention of animal lovers everywhere, I am using a radionics treatment transmitter on animals. All I need is the blood spot and the cost of treatment, which is $9.00 per calendar month. No profit is made out of this. Since suggestion cannot take place with animals, if they can be cured by this method the achievement ought to do much to compel official recognition of radiesthesia and radionics. In emergency cablegram should be sent to above address*, stating sex of animal and that blood spot is being forwarded by mail. . .

Metaphysicians' Newsletter - Karl Johnson, Ed., 1734 Candler Bldg, Atlanta 3, Ga. notifies us that publication has been definitely discontinued. "Please send no more mail". (This was an excellent publication and we regret that it will no longer be obtainable. ML).

The International Congress of Radiesthesia will meet in Paris, May 20-23 incl. '54 The PROCEEDINGS of these Congresses are very enlightening, and the English version will presumably be obtainable from Markham House Press, LTD., 31 King's Road, London S.W. 3, Eng.

THE WINDSHIELD PITTING PHENOMENON

-A Memorandum for Public Information-

The curious phenomenon referred to in the heading above, results from chemcial changes taking place in the atmosphere. These in turn arise from cosmic radiation. The cosmic rays, so-called, penetrate the atmosphere and the earth at great speed, and release hydrogen into the atmosphere. The effective factor in the radiation is probably the meson. There has been an increase in cosmic radiation during several years past. A substance is produced that causes a break-down of particles that hold the glass together. When this substance touches glass, units of intense heat are released, which penetrate and powder the glass.

The graphite-like substance found on the glass has a positive charge, but for a short time only. It is therefore sometimes magnetic and sometimes not. The intense heat effect is very brief and involves very minute particles.

First reports involved windshield glass only, but the radiation is becoming more diffused and will probably affect glass from any and all directions.

Particles striking the human body may produce a slight sensation, but there is no danger because the charge is of very short duration. It is not yet understood why the first effects (both here and in England, for several years past) were largely confined to the windshields. It is certain, however, that this was a temporary phase which is already passing.

There is a possible but as yet unprovable connection between the glass-pitting phenomenon and radioactive by-products, fall-outs etc., from several different sources. Unless the effect spreads to the other semi-metals (besides silicon) there will probably be no cause for alarm.
